Dual diagnosis training for practice nurses

Your general practice or community health service will receive $1000 for each nurse who completes this training.

Would you like to learn more about supporting patients with co-occurring mental health and substance use issues?

North Western Melbourne Primary Health Network, in partnership with NEXUS, is offering 50 practice/community nurses the opportunity to complete a comprehensive 11-hour online training package between September and December 2020.

Apply now and help your practice better recognise, respond to and work with dual diagnosis patients.
