

"I am contributing to improve the healthcare for our community in a proactive way. I am a patient, carer and consumer of the RMH and my lived experience helps me in providing a valuable and insightful voice to the committee, advocating for patients"

- Sue, Community Advisory Committee (CAC) member

Help shape healthcare at The Royal Melbourne Hospital (RMH)

Make a difference to the care provided to patients, consumers and carers – become a Community Advisory Committee (CAC) member.

The CAC advises and advocates to the Royal Melbourne Hospital Board on all things that matter to patients, consumers, carers and the broader community in which we serve.

We are seeking passionate community members from a range of backgrounds, lived experiences, and with established networks that include people with patient and carer experience, young people and families, people with disabilities, First Nations people, and people with diverse cultural backgrounds.
