

We're working together for AOD care.

Sometimes, alcohol and other drug concerns can feel like the elephant in the room, for you, your patients, and your staff.

But it's okay, you're not expected to have all the answers on your own. Whether it's raising a sensitive conversation, knowing what support is available, or guiding someone to the right care, there's help for you too.

We have a range of resources, training, and support so you can raise it with confidence.
